

GRS Press Release May 2020

Global Renewables Shipbrokers bolsters its service portfolio with corporate finance

As worldwide leading consultancy and specialist shipbroker for offshore renewable energy projects GRS is now venturing into the field of project investments and corporate finance.

(Hamburg, May 2020) GRS Global Renewables Shipbrokers from Hamburg is expanding its range of services with project investments and corporate finance as of May 1, 2020. Uwe Schuldt is now heading the new department “Global Renewables Invest & Finance” with a focus on project financing, business transactions, due diligence, strategic analyses, restructuring and distressed or special situations. Uwe worked in business development for a Hamburg based shipping company for 7 years and was senior manager for transactions at KPMG from 2000 to 2007. The graduate engineer and former managing partner of the business consultancy Mavenship has an experience of more than 25 years in project financing and controlling, corporate finance, due diligence, strategy and restructuring.

Growth of the international offshore wind market is continuing unabated. Matthias Mross, GRS Offshore Managing Partner, explains: “We are happy to build a unit of deal support experts, which will provide their skills to our clients in major projects such as company acquisitions, strategic repositioning as well as special situations.”

GRS will also add other experts to the team if need be and is also a perfect partner for the offshore wind community in complex international transactions.

GRS is the worldwide leading consultancy and shipbroking business in offshore wind energy. As an independent advisor, GRS supports the negotiation of all contracts across all value creation stages of the entire project development. At the subsequent installation and operation stage, GRS as an internationally operating and independent specialist shipbroker takes on the chartering of all vessels and crews required as well as the contracting of all further offshore service providers.

About GRS

Established in 2011, GRS is the first independent shipbroker to specialize in the chartering, purchase and sale of offshore tonnage and equipment in the field of renewable energy. GRS supports its customers in global and independent procurement and tendering procedures and identifies possible cost reductions for all important suppliers of the offshore wind industry. The whole team works according to the company's motto "Any Vessel Anytime" in order to offer its clients the best prices, availabilities and service providers in the market. Starting with the first day of planning and for each project stage, GRS supports its customers worldwide by using its comprehensive database in the search for suitable vessels, proven shipping companies and offshore service providers. Detailed expertise and a network that has grown worldwide make GRS the leading shipbroker for offshore tonnage in renewable energy.
