

RenewableUK has evolved its popular wind and aviation event into a highly accessible webinar series this year supported by partners AIFCL, OWIC, Thales and Vattenfall. It is bringing together key aviation stakeholders, project developers, government, national/regional business clusters, health and safety experts, and professional associations, as well as radar, drone and UAS manufacturers and operators.

In addition to exciting networking opportunities, a range of topics will be covered between April and September 2021, including:

- Helicopter operations: wind as a customer of aviation services
- Unmanned aerial systems
- Lighting and marking
- Surveillance and radar

You too can join business-critical discussions while gaining exclusive market intelligence and valuable insight into cutting-edge technologies. The Wind & Aviation 2021 webinar series is free to everyone, starting this April.
